Customers and Friends:

We have enjoyed doing business with you the past years, and we hope that there will be a continuance of friendly business during the coming years.

Your confidence in Lakeside Dahlia Gardens has been most gratifying. We want to aid our customers in every way possible so do not hesitate to write us of your problems and perhaps we can work together to raise better dahlias.

Many customers and friends visited us last season and we were very pleased to see and meet them, also to show them our gardens when they are in full bloom, which is about the middle of August until frost.

We thank you and hope that we can be of some help to make 1941, your best dahlia year.

NICK KOENIG,

HENRY KOENIG,

JOHN KOENIG.

TWO WAYS TO BUY LAKESIDE DAHLIAS

ROOTS—Dahlia roots are divisions of field-grown clumps of dahlias. Each root must have at least one "eye" from which the plant grows. Sturdy plants and fine exhibition flowers grow from roots.

GREEN PLANTS—Green plants are sprouts or cuttings taken from clumps grown in greenhouses; rooted in benches; potted and grown under greenhouse conditions until well established and then moved outside to cold frames for proper hardening off. When they reach you they are ready for planting. Green plants will produce flowers equal to roots when well grown for exhibition, but will not produce as large clumps for the following season. When properly grown from healthy stock, however, many varieties will produce nice clumps.

MINIATURE DAHLIAS

These miniature types are especially adaptable to use in the home, and are attractive in landscape work such as borders, hedges, or for mass plantings, and a few of the real dwarf varieties are suitable and effective in rock gardens.

CULTURE—Miniature dahlias need no disbudding, very little, if any, pruning, and can be planted closer than the larger varieties for landscaping. They should not be heavily fertilized or over-watered.

DIRECTIONS

HOW TO GET TO LAKESIDE GARDENS

FROM DETROIT—North on U. S. 25 through Mt. Clemens five miles to Junction of M-29; turn right four miles to New Baltimore.

DAHLIA CULTURE

SOIL—Dahlias will grow in any soil provided there are sufficient plant foods in the soil to supply the needs for proper growth. Many soils can be improved to grow better dahlias. A heavy soil or clay soil may be improved by the addition of sand and the use of quantities of rotted manure and peat.

FERTILIZER—Before adding plant foods, have your soil tested to determine deficiencies. Generally, 5 to 10 pounds per 100 square feet of a fertilizer analyzing 4-12-4, or thereabouts, will meet most requirements, if the soil has already had organic material added to it. After the first of August, when the plants are beginning to show flower buds, "feeding" with small amounts of nitrogenous fertilizers, once or twice, will favor the development of larger flowers and more vigorous plants.

DIVISIONS—Never plant a "clump" of roots. Divide the clump carefully into a number of parts so that each division will have one sound, healthy tuber, and one or two plump buds.

PLANTING—For exhibition flowers, dahlias should be planted at least 3 feet apart each way. Dwarf varieties for bedding and varieties used for landscape effect may be planted closer. Dwarf singles, as Coltness Gem, should be planted 12 to 14 inches apart for best bedding effects. Dig the holes at least 6 inches deep. Place the tuber horizontally in the bottom of the hole with the bud an inch or so from the stake. Cover the roots with about 2 to 3 inches of soil. As the plants grow the hole may be filled in by cultivating.

STAKING—Five to six foot stakes will be required to support tall growing varieties. The stakes should be set in at the time of planting. If you wait until later to drive in the stakes, much damage may be done to the roots of the plants.

PRUNING—Large flowered types and bedding types should have the tips of the plants cut out when they have reached a height of 8 to 12 inches. Cactus varieties are often permitted to grow until the first buds appear. These are then pinched out to encourage the growth of the laterals. For exhibition flowers, allow only 3 or 4 branches to develop. Remove side buds and all laterals, except those at the bottom, from each of the branches.

WATERING—If "green plants" are planted, water carefully for the first 2 weeks. Through July never allow the soil to dry out sufficiently to cause a checking of the growth. After the first of August and until early or mid-September, dahlias will require plenty of water. If the soil is well drained, there is not much danger of overwatering. Throughout the summer on dry hot days, the plants will be much benefited by a thorough syringing in the later afternoon.

DIGGING—After the first heavy frost, the tops of the plants will blacken and dry. A few days to a week after a frost the tops should be cut off and the clumps dug up. They should be carefully dried off in the sun for several hours before being stored.

STORAGE—Store the tubers in dry granulated peat in a cool place. The best storage temperature is about 45 degrees Fahrenheit. The storage atmosphere should be moist enough to prevent excess drying of the roots and at the same time not so moist as to encourage mold or storage rots.

In the fall when your dahlias are blooming, enter some blooms in the Dahlia Shows near you. You will have lots of pleasure and will learn much about dahlias at the exhibitions.
